

VIVIFICANTE

Pottery workshops in Puglia

The pottery at Vivificante has been welcoming first-timers and enthusiasts of all ages since 2008. From throwing and coiling pots to sculpting clay, Jane provides both the materials and technical expertise needed and a glass or two of prosecco when you're finished!

The pottery has 3 wheels for throwing (2 powered and 1 kick), 3 kilns (including a raku kiln) and plenty of workshop space for hand-building.

Past students have found a morning or afternoon session enough to produce a variety of pieces each, whilst others found it only served to whet their appetite and returned for more. Groups of up to 4 are ideal.

For those on holiday in Puglia, Jane recommends scheduling your pottery session early on in your visit to allow time for drying, glazing and firing before you go home. Where this is not possible, finished work can be packed and posted.

One-off workshop sessions are priced at €50 per person. If required, postage of finished work will be at cost only.

The pottery at Vivificante is open throughout the year. Visitors are welcome to stop by and view Jane's work or to book their own session in the workshop.
